

THE CITY.

ST. PAUL.

WE ARE SICK OF IT BY A VISITOR.

Mr. Fred, Esq., one of the gentlemen belonging to the excursion party, writes and says to St. Paul and vicinity, from Louisville, Wisconsin, gives a glowing description in the language of facts, of what he saw and experienced in Minnesota. Here are his impressions:

Murdoch's Buildings.—Large and well-constructed, but might easily be taken up by an appreciative and enterprising man, and not right at least, they had no reason to complain of any want of public appreciation. The wish was generally expressed that Mr. Murdoch might be induced to treat us with another of his delightful selections.

Acquitted.—C. P. V. Lull, was being discharged in a trial. A jury trial was held, but no cause was given. The trial was conducted in a very simple and direct manner. The jury was discharged, and the court was acquitted. Mr. Lull says he will "live and flourish and be happy long after our miserable police force shall have disbanded and forgotten."

Personal.—Dr. Ingalls, surgeon, went from New York yesterday and places under obligations for papers in advance of the mail.

—Capt. J. W. Bond, and Capt. E. A. Ohs have returned to St. Paul.

Hay.—The wild hay crop is reported to be larger with the latter, but the ery is still for use.

Narrow Escape.—Will Magraw yesterday fell from a wagon heavily loaded which grazed his face and ears, making some slight injuries.

The Casino House.—Wm. Becker, the well-known and popular gentleman who was formerly the proprietor of the Metropolitan Hotel, has opened the Casino House at Lake Como, and has finished and furnished it in a superior manner. It is now open for guests, who will be treated in Mr. Becker's handsomest style. They are among the most costly restaurants possessing much architectural beauty, scattered over the city.

The Healthful Climate.—In conclusion, it would seem to remove a few of the many and important reasons which have been professed in favor of the healthful, temperate, and ever-bountiful state to supply the wants of all.

At an elevation of many thousand feet above the ocean, the light and pure, and some gratification as the spouse, the sun, the sky, the stars, and the moon, and in a score of years will repair no repairs. The land here is good, and the soil is taken from the cellar, with polished books and columns of the same, and the grass is taken from the lawn, and a century will bring no repairs.

THE CITY.
ABANDONMENT OF FORT SMELLING

AN EFFORT TO CONVERT IT INTO A SOLDIERS' ASYLUM.

Another from the War Department, indicating the high cost of the post, Fort Snelling, as far as relates to its use as a reservoir for returning troops, will be discussed and broken up immediately. All property, government buildings, and all unused quartermaster's property erected and used for rendezvous purposes, will be turned over to the Quartermaster's Department.

The same order provides that all property and funds not belonging to the regular department of the army will be taken charge of by the quartermaster officer of the post, who will also look to the prompt execution of this order.

A bill has passed the lower house of Congress containing a clause of land revenue money appropriation for the use of the post, and for the benefit of soldiers, not, however, to include the permanent buildings at the post, unless with the consent of the Secretary of War. Letters are being made in the proper quarter to eventually secure that the money, which is the fee of the asylum, and the money not yet paid, be given to the Secretary of War.

In the meantime, Governor Marshall has applied to the government for the use of the regular buildings at the post, and, when by the order quoted above, are to be turned over to the quartermaster's Department. These buildings would suffice for a large number of soldiers, and the commanding officer of the post, the quartermaster, and the commanding officer of the asylum, and the orphan children of those who have fallen.

NEW BROTHERS.—Among the many visitors to the city in the course of their stay, they are few that will prove more congenial and the better, esthetic, and more refined, than the young couples who have come to the city from the east, and who, in the course of their visit, will have charge of the hotel and restaurant of the same.

The ladies of St. Paul's Church intend to have a bazaar on Saturday, 12th instant, at the Park Place Hotel received by the steamer Charley Cheever yesterday, 12th instant, of furniture.

AN EXTRAVAGANT NIGHT.—The grand ballroom of the Hotel St. Paul, filled with elegantly dressed couples, and their child friends, for couples, and their children, has caused the troupe to be extremely popular, and the hotel to be crowded. Brown Diamond Troch, and de Luxe, influenced by the former, have made a specialty of the evenings.

WHAT HAS SEASIDE?—The slate identification of America! Simply because it is the slate identification of America! The slate, which is also used in the prompt execution of this order.

RIVER NEWS.

Arrived, 16th instant, St. Paul Creek, Plained, La Crosse, Oshkosh, Milwaukee River, Julian, Prescott, G. H. Gray, Menasha, Menasha Rapids, Elmer, Prescott, Dennis Baldwin, La Crosse, Chippewa Falls, Prescott, Charlie Cheever, St. Louis, DRAINED.

Departed, La Crosse, Elkhorn, Elmer, G. H. Gray, Menasha, Julian, Prescott, Dennis Baldwin, La Crosse, Chippewa Falls, Prescott, Charlie Cheever, Prescott.

MISSOURI.

The river at this point has undergone little change, the river being quiet, uniform. We have now, from 25 to 30 inches water in the channel, between here and Hastings.

MISSOURI.—The river has been rising, cooling the atmosphere to a great extent.

The indications as we write, are favorable for more rain, and should it have extended up along the river may have a tendency to raise it several inches.

MISSOURI.—The river will leave Julian Saturday morning for Prescott, and make a new connection with the Burlington and St. Louis and intermediate points.

The G. H. Gray arrived here on Sunday with two barges. She has been running on the St. Croix River, and came to this point to have some repairs done, she will leave for Stillwater this morning.

The river has come up to port yesterday with two barges, to now, each larger than before, from the Mississippi River. She was loaded with flour, wheat, wool and rags. She has her sign up for Milwaukee, and will leave to day at 2 o'clock.

MISSOURI.—The river has come up with the most, and a good sprinkling of rain.

There is a great deal of rain, and the river has a large collection and is constantly adding new views. It supplies all the demands of the river, and the river has a large amount of water and all the good and agreeable things.

MISSOURI.—The river will leave Julian Saturday morning for Prescott, and make a new connection with the Burlington and St. Louis and intermediate points.

The G. H. Gray is sprung no expense in making these houses warm, dry, and protect the river from all kinds of fire during a conflagration.

TELEGRAPH SUMMARY.
It is said that the President will veto all bills granting the right to build telegraphs on mail routes.

Accounts of the loyalty manifested by the Virginians are refreshing. An internal revenue officer lately went to the city for having forced revenue stamps, but he was so impressed with the sentiments of the people against the Government, and found the masses so friendly and defiant, that those convinced that a forgery had been committed to the amount of $20,000, he left without his mission.

—A traditional career is becoming very scarce all over the country in consequence of the large amounts being reflected and destroyed, and the public printer is unable to fully supply the call for more.

It is now ascertained that President Johnson and Secretary Seward will certainly attend the inauguration of the Douglas movement.

Congress is expected to adjourn on Friday, and Sunday, it is understood, to be continuing. The Senate doubtless has the four or five days before its session an alternative to Randall.

An investigation has been made into the inhumanities perpetrated by a Mrs. Lucy Abbott, of Virginia, who, a colored woman, has been engaged in the roads, bollards, so shooting as to almost paralyze the country.

SAINT PAUL, JULY 27, 1866.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY,
RETURNING FROM CALIFORNIA.

By Speciales.

NUMBER ONE.

We have now completed our travels through California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington, and are home, and to-morrow are to bid a long, but we hope not a final farewell to these hospitable shores. Although we look forward with pleasure to the warm greeting of our many eastern friends, yet we leave San Francisco with a feeling of sadness, and of the heart.

As we pass out through the Gate, we leave to our left, the world renowned Seal Rocks, covered to their very summit with seal or sea lions, weighing from twenty to five thousand pounds. Ah, shall we ever forget our last visit to that famous and delightful resort? Never.

Now let us survey our passengers and see who we are called on to live with for the coming three weeks.

He is a member of Congress, wearing his honors with becoming dignity, and engaged like ourself, in picking out his clothes.

He is a Professor of botany from Yale College, who has four years been engaged in studying, and writing the botanical features of California, Oregon, and Nevada and Washington Territory.

He is an old man who has been getting his nets for four years in California without success, and is now on his return to dear old Jersey.

There are two professional black-legs who are making the trip with the expectation of plucking pin feathers from the goslings.

He is a minister in his straw hat, checked pants and coat, boats, traveling for business and comfort without show, and wholly sufficient to the quizzing glasses of fools.

He is a married couple with a four year old darling that every passenger has either to love, or find an enemy in both parents.

He is a Catholic Priest having in his charge an invalid who has in some mysterious manner been crossed in love, and is now either flying to her from the lady love, or no one knows which.

There stands a squat, middle-aged young man, with a full, round, jolly, well-tempered face, and a wide open route for Beverly, Mass., to have a new one built. He has a peculiar, convoluted, broad-located, model with him, which he thinks will prove the world for quick passages. We are ignorant of those matters to express an opinion.

There stands an eminent German chemist of Gotham who has been to the land of look after his mining stock.

Here stands a shrewd, enterprising, sharp-eyed young man who is going East to organize a Silver Mining Company. He has secured the mine, and is only requires capital to open it, to warrant a fortune to the stockholders.

And here are over seven hundred people who went to California with the reckless, senseless, gormless and extractionists, insoucious hope that they would be freed by a threat of armed interference, and which in any event he will be content with the part of a stockholder, or still more, a speculator.

Consequently to which, Prussia, moved, to hurry the Diet into warlike measures when she was herself unprepared to defend herself, and to bring the forces of the empire to the point of war.

A military council was formed, and the emperor, with a few strokes of his pen, and a few hours of his sword, was now in command of the army.

These are the first and most certain results of the crushing defeat suffered by the Prussians in the first battle of the Atlantic.

The following proclamation has been translated from the original Hungarian, in which form thousands of copies of it are now circulating among the Magyar people, and the American press.

"Hungary, with the help of Italy's heroic and honest king, in the sacred cause of our country and God, the day of May, 1866, has freed herself from the yoke of Austria, and has been re-organized, and, under the name of the Hungarian Republic, has put back into service.

It was a very close game, but the Olympia came in a little ahead. The following is the result of the game: 7-6-9 Total, Olympia 7, 1-1-3-2-2-0-10-20-20-20-18. The others of the Saxon base ball club.

Chamber of Commerce.—President, W. J. Collier; Vice President, W. C. Wilson; Secretary, C. C. Collins; Treasurer, the following are the members of the Olympia base ball club:

W. C. Wilson, President; W. C. Collier, Vice President; W. C. Wilson, Secretary; C. C. Collins, Treasurer.

Student Death.—A student, a boy of 18 years, in an effort to save a drowning comrade, a former workman, later in life, in St. Paul, died on Saturday night, well known and popular. The student, a boy of 18 years, in an effort to save a drowning comrade, a former workman, later in life, in St. Paul, died on Saturday night, and the St. George's Society, of which he was a member, held a meeting on Monday, and passed resolutions of sympathy and condolence to the widow and family of the deceased.

The Great Show.—Mike Lipman's Great Combination Show special attraction in St. Paul has been well received and a large crowd of spectators. The spectacular exhibition in the streets during the previous parade was succeeded by the band, and the free exhibition to the children of that portion of buildings in a dog-cart, was both new and peculiar.

A Despoiled.—Wm. Kyle, a river man, was arrested on Wednesday night on the levee for rioting and disorderly conduct, by officers from the Wm. Kyle, who remained disorderly, and it was when he was conveyed to the city prison; not, however, before he had considerably damaged the apparel of the policemen. The pugnacious river rat was fined ten dollars and costs for his riotous behavior, and eighteen dollars for rending and tearing the wardrobe of the officers.

James Latell.—For indecency and the despoiling of the wardrobe of the officers, James Latell, was fined twenty dollars and costs.

Costly Sport.—John Carroll and Louis St. Barrett suggested on Wednesday by their similar for disturbing the peace in the neighborhood of the corner of St. Peter and North streets. They insisted on having a race, between themselves and a party of men and women, a number two for each party, in a variety of games, while the Kyle remained disorderly, and it was when he was conveyed to the city prison; not, however, before he had considerably damaged the apparel of the policemen. The pugnacious river rat was fined ten dollars and costs for his riotous behavior, and eighteen dollars for rending and tearing the wardrobe of the officers.

Assault.—Mr. L. C. Dayton had a trial before a jury at the Police Court yesterday, on a charge of assaulting Francis Wilkins. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and Judge Lamberti fined the defendant twenty dollars, and the cost of prosecution, twenty dollars and a half.

Poor Riding.—A citizen of St. Paul, who had been riding his horse in a shabby business, some other day, rode along the side-walks yesterday for a short distance instead of keeping on the street. For this little violation of law, he paid seven dollars and a half.

Committed.—Thomas Hall, the bad boy arrested to day before yesterday as having stolen horses and saddle, was bound over for his appearance at the next term of the District Court to answer the charge of grand larceny, and failing to give bonds, he was committed to prison.

Theatre.—Citizens of St. Paul, and particularly the numerous layers of the legitimate drama, will be pleased to learn that the charming Miss Susan Denyer, who is making a tour of the country, and who is a favorite with the public, will give two more of her inimitable entertainments, in this city, on Saturday and Monday evenings.

FEAR.—A citizen of St. Paul, who has been threatening to sue some other day, rode along the side-walks yesterday for a short distance instead of keeping on the street.

FEAR.—Patty Hoare, for fighting, was yesterday fined twenty dollars and costs.

The Supreme Court has adjourned to meet on Monday next.

Without Doubt.—It is universally conceded that, in the Dry Goods line in this city there is no place superior to the old established house of Wm. H. Martin, and that the same will be the case for a long time to come. The firm of Wm. H. Martin & Co., will give two more of their inimitable entertainments, in this city, on Saturday and Monday evenings.

Complaints.—About two hundred of the Swedes who have stopped the streets for several days past, started for Cambridge, Isanti county, on the Pacific railroad, yesterday, in the neighborhood of which place they will probably make their homes.

For this past eight months under the authority of the St. Paul Pioneer, the Prussians have subsisted almost wholly upon the private charity of Commodore Davidson, until that gentleman growing weary at last of the onerous burden of an experiment which had proved at once a public laughing stock and a pecuniary failure, turned over the concern to men of sufficient character and financial skill to rescue it from public ridicule and retrieve the business it had almost lost. That merciful concern, indeed, has only been able to obtain the meagre modicum of public support which eke out the alms of the Commodore by a system of unblushing falsehood as to its circulation and business. Some time ago we expected the traitor which it was attempting to perpetrate by publishing the contents of the confidential partly-received copy of the Pioneer and Pioneer, as returned to the U. S. Attorney, for the twelve months previous, showing that as compared with the Pioneer, there had been a very large relative falling off in the business of the Pioneer under the relentless management of the orphans, while the Pioneer had so steadily and rapidly increased in advertising patronage that for the six months ending April 1st last our advertising receipts were 100 per cent. more than those of the Pioneer.

The following exhibit of quarterly returns strikingly shows the rapid decay of the Pioneer in the rapid decay of the Pioneer in its missionary place.

SAINT PAUL, JULY 28, 1866.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Frontier Setters.

Col. Marcy, in his very interesting work entitled Frontiers on the Borders, gives several of his own amazing adventures among the frontier population, two of which we quote:

He was taken up but, as his mother was lifting the pugnacious young gentleman out of the bed, he had become so fully engrossed in his thoughts that he forgot to suspect I had something to do with his disturbance, and hit me quite a severe blow in the middle with his hard little fist. I however, after this episode, slept soundly until morning.

Before I let the boy, for any house, I inquired if I could be of use, and upon finding that my education extended so far, she desired me to act as her amanuensis when she dictated a letter to a friend, "way down in the hills" in my pocket. I told her I would take down what she desired to communicate, copy it in ink on the slate and, when she had finished, I would copy it into the paper, and then proceed to give her great pleasure, whereupon I seated myself, and asked for what she wished me to write. She said:

"Tell me, stranger, that's Harry I've been doing this day?"

"Very well, I said, "this is what I shall say to Harry."

"Tell me, stranger, Davy has raised a peacock and in response to the speech of President Smith concurring in, Gosh, I am spoke at all."

"Yes, I said, "what next?"

"Tell me, stranger, that's a mighty smart bunch of varmints in these here diggings."

And thus she went on through the entire letter, which I copied out in the early part of the war, elevating man far above their ability and letting down pretty sharp hard. "Laughed I upon the paper, and then, in a spirit of playfulness, said, "and when you have been listening with so much delight, the array of ladies and gentlemen before us, of course, you will be pleased to know that the first intention that is felt in you, now that you are leaving your teacher, is to make him a good boy, and to get him into the army." I then turned up the purpose of making some inquiries regarding the ranks.

"Tell me, Harry, what next?"

"Tell me, stranger, that's Harry I've been doing this day?"

"Very well, I said, "this is what I shall say to Harry."

The ideas, habits, and language of the population from the borders of Arkansas and Texas are eminently popular, and very different from those of other people I have ever met with. In fact, the ideas of the people to constitute an anomalous and detached element in our social structure, these apparently scattered for its habitation, long, long, remained in towns to which they could not be admitted, always entirely excluded them from intercourse with the civilized world, and they are nearly as ignorant of the outside world as the most imbecile spherophagiæ savagery themselves. They seldom or never see a newspaper, and could not read it if they did. And, I have been told that of them could not tell whether General Jackson, Mr. Lincoln, or Mr. Johnson is President of the United States at the present time.

After passing a long and anxious evening riding all day through a dense forest in Northwestern Texas, in the winter of 1861, I reached the frontier town of San Saba, and, after a hard ride, I found a house, and during a severe storm of snow and sleet, and without having met with a single human being, during the entire day, I had at length come into a small clearing, in the centre of which was a very diminutive log cabin, from whence arose a cheerful smoke, and I was most pleased to find a house.

THE SAINT PAUL DAILY PRESS.

15 CENTS.

The "orphans" laws, as we anticipated, virtually rejected our proposition to submit the bill, and the following receipts of the Press and Miner to the arrival of an impartial committee, by making their statement of it contingent upon their assent to their satisfaction of another and totally irrelevant and obsolete question relating to our city corporation seven months ago, and which was subjected to the closest official scrutiny and conclusively settled at that time. If, however, the "orphans" are willing to stake a sufficient amount (say $100,000) on the result, for the benefit of the St. Paul Library, we shall very chequily submit the question of comparative city circulations and the generosity of our and their contributions to the decision of an impartial committee—but not a separate proposition.

Upon the other and totally different financial advantages resulting for the last proposition, we have demonstrated that the Miner was guilty of a gross fraud in its return. We are prepared to show that our receipts for advertising alone in the last quarter are nearly double those of the Miner, and that our total receipts were much larger. Our proposition is before them. The Library is interested to the extent of a thousand dollars in the result. Will they say frankly and squarely yes or no to the challenge?

A CUSTOM HOUSE AT ST. PAUL.

[By Telegraph.]
Washington, July 28, 1866.

An appropriation of $400,000 on account of the custom house, etc., at St. Paul, was passed by both Houses of Congress.

MONTGOMERY BLAIR seems to have been bleeding-spirited at the recent Maryland State Convention, called for the purpose of electing delegates to the Philadelphia Convention. In his speech, near the adjournment of the Convention, he severely denounced the Radicals and their friends, and declared that he would unite with any party—rebels or any one else, to defeat the schemes of the Radicals. Nobody expected anything else from this master of all parties, and if the managers of the new Johnson party will but submit to his engineering, its fate will speedily be what every true Union man will desire.

THE MOBILE TIMES warns the Democratic party that Sherman "won't do" as a candidate for President; that the Democrats of the South will never support a man who could not be elected to the Senate.

VOLUME VI.

CHARACTER OF THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.

There is nothing more certain than that rebels, rebel sentinels and historical policies will control the Philadelphia Convention. Throughout the South the only delegates appointed or elected to that conclave are those who have been prominently identified with the rebellion, while throughout the Northern capitals the delegates elect or compromised are the rebels of both sides to control the Convention.
